PURPOSE: To advise of allegations made by former Bureau Klan informant, Gary Thomas Rowe, Jr., to Alabama authorities concerning his participation in violent actions while serving as an informant for our Birmingham Office.

SYNOPSIS: Gary Thomas Rowe, Jr., a Klan informant between May, 1960, and January, 1966, supplied information to the Alabama Attorney General's Office concerning an alleged murder of a black man which he committed in 1963, and which was allegedly reported to the FBI. In addition, speculation was made by State investigators that Rowe was involved in a number of bombings and in the possible slaying of a civil rights worker. Contact with Birmingham Field Office and a review of FBIHQ informant files reveals no indication that the Bureau was aware that such activity might have been engaged in by Rowe.

RECOMMENDATION: None. For information.

DETAILS: Rowe, a Klan informant of the Birmingham Office between May, 1960, and January, 1966, recently supplied information to the Alabama Attorney General's Office which appeared in a series of articles in the 7/9 and 11/78, editions of the "New York Times." The articles indicated the following:

Re: GARY THOMAS ROWE, JR.

1) While an informant of the Bureau in 1963, Rowe shot a black man to death, then kept quiet about the killing at the instructions of his case Agent.

2) Rowe may have been involved in the bombing of the 16th Street Baptist Church in Birmingham in 1963, which resulted in the death of four young girls.

3) Rowe may have been involved in the firebombing of the home of A. G. Gaston, a black millionaire in Birmingham, as well as setting off explosives in a black neighborhood.

4) Rowe may have been a participant in the slaying of civil rights worker, Viola Liuzzo.

It should be pointed out at the outset that the claim of shooting a black man in 1963, was the only statement actually made by Rowe in which he claims responsibility. The other items listed above are speculations and contentions made by unnamed investigators and authorities associated with a probe being conducted by the Alabama Attorney General's Office concerning various murders which occurred during the civil rights movement in the 1960's. These speculations are based in part upon State-conducted polygraph examinations which were administered to Rowe.

In order to resolve these allegations, contact was made with Supervisor [redacted] and SA [redacted] of the Birmingham Office, who have been assisting the Alabama Attorney General's Office in its probe and have extensively reviewed Rowe's informant file, as well as the file on the bombing of the 16th Street Baptist Church. In addition, Rowe's informant file has been reviewed at FBIHQ.

Regarding the allegation that Rowe shot a black man in 1963, and subsequently advised his case Agent, no indication whatsoever could be located in field or Headquarters informant files which would substantiate such an incident.

Re: GARY THOMAS ROWE, JR.

As has been pointed out in the "New York Times" article, the former FBI case Agent in this matter (Byron McFall) was interviewed by a "New York Times" reporter and labeled the account, "an absolute falsehood." [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

There was also no indication in Birmingham files that Rowe was involved in the 16th Street Baptist Church bombing, any other bombings, or the shooting of Viola Liuzzo. File reviews reveal that after the 16th Street Baptist Church was bombed, Rowe was contacted by his case Agent and asked whether he knew anything about the bombing. He indicated that he did not. Files also reflect that Rowe had testified during the trial of the killers of Liuzzo to the fact that he had been in the car with ~~three~~ other Klansmen when the murder occurred, but had not, himself, participated in the shooting. The other ~~three~~ Klansmen were convicted of this crime.

It should be noted that Rowe has made numerous claims in the past concerning his participation in violence while an informant. Files indicate that Rowe was constantly advised by his case Agent to avoid violence and to contact the FBI Office when he thought violence might occur. Birmingham points out that there is nothing in Birmingham files which indicates that Rowe was involved in the crimes he admits or is alleged to have participated in. This does not discount the fact that he might have been without Bureau knowledge.

TO : MR. BIAMONTE 198

DATE: 7/12/78

FROM : bc 8/4 COLWELLSUBJECT: GARY THOMAS ROWE, JR.
FORMER KLAN INFORMANT
ADMINISTRATIVE INQUIRYPURPOSE:

To furnish you with background information and instruct that certain immediate action be taken by the FBI's Office of Professional Responsibility in preparation for an anticipated request for a preliminary investigation in connection with allegations being made surrounding the activities in the 1960's of Gary Thomas Rowe, Jr., former Klan informant. There are attached copies of Mignosa to Moore memorandum dated 7/11/78 and news articles related to this matter, as well as a letter dated 7/12/78 from Senators Edward M. Kennedy and James Abourezk to Drew Days, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division of the Department, requesting immediate investigation.

DETAILS:

On 7/12/78, in a meeting in the office of Associate Director James B. Adams, attended by Deputy Associate Director John J. McDermott; Deputy Assistant Director James O. Ingram, Criminal Investigative Division; [redacted] Executive Assistant to Mr. Adams; Supervisor [redacted] Criminal Investigative Division; and me, the following matters were discussed:

On 7/12/78 Assistant Attorney General Phillip Heymann, Criminal Division of the Department, testified concerning this matter at a hearing of the Senate Judiciary Committee chaired by Senator Kennedy. Subsequently, on 7/12/78, Senators Kennedy and Abourezk sent a letter to the Department of Justice indicating that it was their understanding that the Civil Rights Division was going to handle the investigation regarding allegations concerning Rowe. Senator Kennedy believes that the FBI should not handle the investigation.

Re: GARY THOMAS ROWE, JR.

In a meeting on 7/12/78 between Mr. Adams and Deputy Attorney General Civiletti, Terry Adamson, Phil Jordan, and Mike Shaheen of the Department's Office of Professional Responsibility, Mr. Civiletti stated that the Department of Justice, in accord with an understanding between Judge Webster and Judge Bell, would not investigate the FBI. Mr. Civiletti stated the FBI would handle its own.

Briefly, the allegations involving Rowe are as follows:

- (1) Rose killed a black man and allegedly told an FBI agent that he had done so. The FBI agent allegedly told Rowe to forget it.
- (2) The black man allegedly killed has not been identified, nor has it been determined that a black man was killed during the pertinent time period. The Attorney General stated on television on the night of 7/11/78 that the FBI was getting a "bum rap" with regard to this issue.
- (3) Rowe allegedly is involved in the bombing of the 16th Street Baptist Church, Birmingham, Alabama.
- (4) Viola Liuzzo, according to two individuals who were convicted, was shot by Rowe.

The Department of Justice is responding to the Kennedy letter and it is anticipated that this response will include the following:

- (1) The Department of Justice's Office of Professional Responsibility will review any action taken by the Civil Rights Division of the Department.
- (2) The Alabama State authorities will be asked for any and all information in their possession concerning Rowe.
- (3) The FBI's Office of Professional Responsibility is being requested to conduct a preliminary investigation.

Memorandum to Mr. Biamonte

ACTION:

Pending receipt of a letter from Mr. Shaheen, the following reviews should be instituted immediately by the Office of Professional Responsibility, Planning and Inspection Division:

(1) Deputy Assistant Director James O. Ingram, Criminal Investigative Division, has approved Supervisor [ ] to work with the Office of Professional Responsibility in connection with this inquiry. [ ] has been working with this matter over an extended period of time and reportedly is thoroughly familiar with most aspects of this matter. ✓

Gary Thomas Rowe, Jr., was an informant of the FBI between May, 1960, and January, 1966. Regarding the allegation that Rowe shot a black man in 1963 and subsequently advised the FBI, no information whatsoever to substantiate such an incident has been located. Former Special Agent Byron McFall, [REDACTED] who was Rowe's agent handler at the time of the alleged shooting, has told the "New York Times" that this allegation is "an absolute falsehood." Additionally, in connection with other speculation regarding this matter, there is no indication in FBI files that Rowe was involved in the 16th Street Baptist Church bombing in Birmingham, any other bombings, or the shooting of Viola Liuzzo. Our files indicate that Rowe was constantly advised by his case agent to avoid violence and to contact the FBI office when he thought violence might occur. <sup>FBI was</sup> There ~~is~~ no information ~~in~~ ~~FBI files~~ to indicate that Rowe was involved in the crimes he admits or is alleged to have participated in.

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

July 12, 1978

Honorable Drew Days
Assistant Attorney General
Civil Rights Division
Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Days:

As you know, the Senate Judiciary Committee has been examining the policies, practices, and procedures of the Federal Bureau of Investigation with the objective of developing a statutory charter governing Bureau investigative activities. We also remain mindful of our responsibilities for ongoing oversight of the Department of Justice and the FBI.

This morning, during hearings on the FBI Charter, Assistant Attorney General Heymann indicated that your Division has been given responsibility for investigating the allegations of Mr. Gary Thomas Rowe, Jr. regarding the commission of a violent crime during the time he was a government informer. Our committee, which is presently looking closely at the Informant Guidelines and the Department's procedures implementing them, is intensely interested in receiving a full report of the results of your inquiry.

We would thus appreciate your cooperation in the following respects:

First, we would like to be notified in detail of the methods of carrying out this inquiry at the outset. Who will be supervising the investigation, who will be involved in its day-to-day operations, what time targets have been set, and what are the general procedures contemplated to be used.

Second, we want a full report on the methodology used at the conclusion of the investigation, including those interviewed, the leads not followed, and all areas inquired into.

Inquiry Shows F.B.I. Informant May Have Aided Klan Violence

By HOWELL RAINES

Special to The New York Times

ATLANTA, July 8 — A renewed investigation by Alabama authorities into murders during the 1960's civil rights movement has indicated that the Federal Bureau of Investigation's chief paid informant in the Ku Klux Klan might have been an agent-provocateur who participated in and helped plan the incidents that the F.B.I. hired him to monitor.

The informant, Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., has failed two polygraph — lie detector — tests in which he denied involvement in the 1963 bombing that killed four black children at the 16th Street Baptist Church in Birmingham, according to records compiled by the Alabama Attorney General's staff and the Birmingham Police Department.

Statements Made to Police

Because of his "deceptive" answers on the polygraph tests Mr. Rowe is now suspected of having been in the group of Klansmen who planted dynamite at the church before dawn on Sept. 15, 1963. For five years, he received monthly payments of $20 to $300 from the F.B.I.

The reports of the polygraph examinations also indicated that Mr. Rowe was "attempting deception" in denying involvement in the firebombing of the home of A.G. Gaston, a black millionaire in Birmingham, and in setting off shrapnel bombs that, investigators said, were intended to maim passersby in a black neighborhood.

Mr. Rowe is also quoted in investigative files as having made incriminating statements in the presence of two Birmingham policemen about his role in the killing of Viola G. Liuzzo, a civil rights marcher shot to death near Selma, Ala., in 1965.

In Washington, a spokesman for the F.B.I. said today that the agency had "no comment" about allegations that Mr. Rowe had provoked violence while employed by the bureau. The spokesman, Tom Harrington, said he could not confirm reports that the agency had received copies of Mr. Rowe's polygraph tests.

Mr. Rowe's attorney could not be reached for comment.

The Luizzo case brought Mr. Rowe, a former nightclub bouncer, national attention in 1965 when his testimony, under F.B.I. protection and a grant of immunity from state and Federal prosecutors, sent three Birmingham Klansmen to prison.

New Identity With F.B.I. Help

In 1975, wearing a hood to protect the new identity he has assumed with the help of the F.B.I., Mr. Rowe told the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Operations that the bureau had encouraged him to participate in acts of violence as part of his undercover work within the Klan. Shortly thereafter, Alabama authorities contacted Mr. Rowe in the hope that he might become a prosecution witness in their renewed investigation of the 1963 church bombing.

But after two polygraph tests and six hours of interrogation with Mr. Rowe, state investigators and Birmingham city detectives now contend that he may have been with Robert E. Chambliss in the car that delivered the bomb to the 16th Street Baptist Church. At the least, the investigators believe, Mr. Rowe probably had prior knowledge that the bomb had been planted and failed to report it to the Federal bureau in time to save the four young girls who died when it went off during Sunday services.

Mr. Chambliss, a 74-year-old Klansman, was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to life in prison last November for the bombing. In September and October, Mr. Rowe submitted to polygraph tests and questioning in California, where his attorney lived. At that time, the staff of Attorney General Bill Baxley of Alabama was preparing the case against Mr. Chambliss.

Investigative documents indicate that in the first polygraph test, Mr. Rowe "showed strong and consistent unresolved deception responses" when he said he was not with the group that planted the bomb at the church. The polygraph examiner concluded that Mr. Rowe "was attempting deception" in denying a role in that and two other bombings.

Examiner Found Charts 'Deceptive'

Mr. Rowe then asked to be tested by a polygraph examiner of his own choosing. The second examiner also found his charts "deceptive" when he denied that he was present when the bomb was planted. The second examiner then added to his report to the Alabama Attorney General's Office an observation that has caused some difference of opinion among investigators.

"From a subjective point of view," the examiner wrote, "I should point out that the charts, even though they are deceptive by the criteria we use, are not what I would expect to see from a person who is actually responsible for the planting of the bomb."

"The charts are more consistent," the examiner continued, "with what we see when a person is withholding vital information, even though they are technically answering the question truthfully."

According to sources close to the investigation, the ranking Birmingham detective assigned to the case remains convinced that Mr. Rowe was in the car with Mr. Chambliss at the church, even if Mr. Rowe did not personally place the bomb against the church wall.

Different Theory Is Offered

State investigators have suggested a different theory to explain the "deception" indicated by the polygraph tests and the "vital information" Mr. Rowe is suspected of withholding. Mr. Rowe, it is said, may have thought the bomb was supposed to go off around 4 A.M., before anyone came to the church for services.

The F.B.I. files, in fact, record a call from Mr. Rowe to an agent in Birmingham that Sunday morning in which Mr. Rowe asked if anyone had heard a bomb go off about daylight. Not long after Mr. Rowe hung up, the bomb at the 16th Street Church exploded. Mr. Rowe now denies having made the call to the F.B.I.

"My best estimate was that he knew in advance it was happening," said one investigator. "He thought it was going off at 4 A.M., but it went off and killed those kids, and then he can't come forward. How's he going to admit that he knew they were going to put a bomb out and then didn't tell? If he didn't help — if he just had prior knowledge — he's still got a problem. I don't believe the F.B.I. would have given him immunity."

In any event, state investigators have not ruled out the possibility that Mr. Rowe may have been with Mr. Chambliss at the church.

Meanwhile, they have developed information that contradicts Mr. Rowe's contention that he was not close to Mr. Chambliss, even though both were members of the Klan "action squads" that carried out "missionary work," the Klan euphemism for violent activity.

Pair Had 'Excellent Relationship'

Investigators assert, however, that the two men had "an excellent relationship" and that, in his undercover reports on the church bombing, Mr. Rowe guided Federal agents away from Mr. Chambliss. The files record Mr. Chambliss as having praised Mr. Rowe in by saying: "You can trust Rowe to kill a nigger and never talk."

Ironically, the picture of Mr. Rowe now being developed by the investigators seems to support the contentions of Klan leaders that Mr. Rowe purposely led Klansmen into violence so that he would have information to sell the F.B.I.

There have been news reports that Mr. Rowe — who testified that almost one-third of his 1964 income of $5,600 came from the F.B.I. — was employed under a Federal-informant program in which participants were paid according to the volume and quality of information they supplied.

Investigative reports on a "double bombing involving shrapnel" that took place 10 days after the 16th Baptist Street

Church bombing have caused investigators to place some value on charges that Mr. Rowe may have helped stage the incident that he reported for pay.

Police Saw Him Near Scene

The Birmingham police spotted Mr. Rowe only four blocks from the scene of the two explosions. F.B.I. records state that Mr. Rowe telephoned in his report in the few minutes between the first and second explosions, and a polygraph examiner concluded that there was deception in Mr. Rowe's denial that he was directly involved.

Mr. Rowe's testimony in the Luizzo case has also raised questions about whether he was a participant or an undercover informant. In two state murder trials and one Federal conspiracy trial, Mr. Rowe admitted that he was in the car with three Klansmen who chased Mrs. Luizzo on a lonely stretch of highway between Montgomery and Selma.

Mr. Rowe contended, however, that he merely pretended to shoot at Mrs. Luizzo, and that one of his companions actually fired the shots that killed the Detroit woman, who had come to Alabama for the Selma-to-Montgomery march led by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The investigators have statements from two Birmingham policemen who quoted Mr. Rowe as indicating he was a participant in the slaying. Mr. Rowe has described one of the officers as a friend and a Ku Klux Klan sympathizer with whom he rode in a police patrol car.

might indicate the "withholding of vital information" rather than actual participation.

The investigative files contain speculation, based on those so-called lie-detector tests, that Mr. Rowe may now be caught between a desire for publicity and a fear of prosecution. In 1976, Mr. Rowe published a book entitled "My Undercover Years With the Ku Klux Klan," and the investigative records state that he is now trying to get a movie made about his life.

Named Nine Klansmen

Mr. Rowe, in his mid-40's and living in an undisclosed location, worked as an ambulance driver, nightclub bouncer and for a Birmingham dairy before he became an F.B.I. informant. In addition to monthly payments, Mr. Rowe wrote in his book, the F.B.I. also provided money for his Klan robe, dues, initiation fee and mileage on his car.

In 1976, Mr. Rowe gave the Alabama authorities the names of nine Klansmen who he said had been involved in the church bombing. But the polygraph results and contradictions in his subsequent statements to investigators raised the suspicion that he might have been in the car with Mr. Chambliss when the bomb was planted, according to a source close to the investigation.

Or, the investigators believe, Mr. Rowe may have known the bomb had been placed at the church and compromised himself by failing to tell the F.B.I. about it in time to save the four black girls who were killed in the explosion.

Mr. Rowe's testimony under immunity from prosecution led to one conviction arising from his days as an informer. That was in the Federal conspiracy trial of three Klansmen whom he accompanied in the car that chased Mrs. Liuzzo on a lonely stretch of highway. As he and his companions drew alongside Mrs. Liuzzo's speeding car, Mr. Rowe testified, he pointed his pistol out the window and pretended to fire, leaving the killing to one of his companions.

F.B.I. Informant in Klan Asserts He Shot and Killed a Black in '63

By HOWELL RAINES

Special to The New York Times

ATLANTA, July 9 — The Federal Bureau of Investigation's chief paid informant in the Ku Klux Klan in the early 1960's has told the Alabama authorities that, while on the bureau payroll, he shot a black man to death, then kept quiet about the killing at the instruction of an F.B.I. agent, according to investigative documents.

The account given to the Alabama authorities by the informant, Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., has been denied by the agent Mr. Rowe named. A spokesman for the bureau said its files contained no record of such a shooting, which Mr. Rowe told investigators occurred during racial rioting in Birmingham.

Mr. Rowe, in turn, has accused the F.B.I. of having purged its files about his undercover work in Klan "action squads" in an effort to protect its own reputation, according to investigative records compiled by the Alabama Attorney General's Office and the Birmingham Police Department.

2 Polygraph Failures Cited

Mr. Rowe told Alabama investigators of the previously unreported killing while they were questioning him last year about the 1963 bombing that killed four black children at the 16th Street Baptist Church in Birmingham. The investigative documents show that Mr. Rowe has twice failed polygraph tests in which he denied direct involvement in that and two other bombings.

As a result of those tests, according to sources close to the renewed investigation into racial violence in Alabama in the 1960's, Mr. Rowe is now suspected of having acted as an agent provocateur, participating in the violent activity that the F.B.I. had hired him to monitor and help to plan it.

Byron McFall, the agent to whom Mr. Rowe said he reported the shooting, contended in a telephone interview that the informant's account was "an absolute falsehood." Mr. McFall, now a Federal judge in Oklahoma City, was an F.B.I. agent in Birmingham from 1958 to 1964. Mr. Rowe received monthly payments of $20 to $300 from the bureau for his reports to Mr. McFall and others in the agency's Birmingham office between 1960 and 1965.

Mr. McFall said Mr. Rowe had fabricated the incident to "gain attention."

Because the polygraph tests indicated that Mr. Rowe was involved in other incidents of violence, however, the Alabama authorities are unsure what to make of the apparent confession. One theory investigators have developed is that, whether or not Mr. Rowe reported the shooting, it may actually have occurred and he may fear that it will be uncovered in the new inquiries.

Thus, in apparently confessing to a previously undisclosed crime, one of the investigative memos suggested, Mr. Rowe may have been bargaining for blanket immunity from state prosecution for whatever occurred while he was an undercover agent.

When the matter came up last October, Mr. Rowe and his attorneys were meeting in California with the Alabama authorities, who wanted Mr. Rowe to return to the state to testify against Robert E. Chambliss, the former Klansman later convicted of murder in the 16th Street Church bombing.

However, the Alabama Attorney General, Bill Baxley, gave up his plan to use Mr. Rowe as a prosecution witness after polygraph results indicated that on two occasions Mr. Rowe had given "deceptive" answers about the church bombing.

Mr. Rowe gained national attention in 1975, when, wearing a hood to protect the new identity he had assumed with the F.B.I.'s help, he told a United States Senate Committee that the F.B.I. had encouraged him to participate in acts of violence to gather evidence against the Klan.

Testified on Slaying

Mr. Rowe had been in hiding since he testified in 1965, with F.B.I. protection, that he had been with the three Klansmen who killed Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit housewife who had come to Alabama for the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery.

Mr. Rowe's account of the alleged shooting in 1963 is reported in a memo to a state prosecutor from the investigator who questioned him. Mr. Rowe was quoted as saying that while driving through a black section of Birmingham during one of the nights of rioting that followed turbulent demonstrations that year, he encountered a black man who was beating a woman and was forced to shoot the man to protect himself.

Mr. Rowe stated that he reported the shooting to a Birmingham police sergeant who was manning a barricade in the riot zone and later made a telephone call to Mr. McFall.

After checking with the police, Mr. Rowe alleged, the Federal agent called back and said that a black man had been shot through the eye. Mr. Rowe is quoted as saying that he responded: "This is not the one. I'm an excellent shot, and I hit this nigger right in the chest."

'You Killed Him'

According to the memo, Mr. Rowe said the F.B.I. agent again checked with the police and called back to say: "You're right. You killed him. The sergeant with the B.P.D. recognized you?"

Mr. Rowe is said to have stated that the police sergeant did not know him. Mr. McFall is then quoted in the memo as saying to Mr. Rowe: "Just sit tight and don't say anything else about it."

The detective concluded, "Rowe is trying to get this crime under the immunity letter" offered him by the Alabama authorities in the church bombing case. "Rowe doesn't say so, but if this did happen," the investigator added, "Rowe would tell it now hoping to get immunity for the murder."

In another memo about the incident, the investigator concluded that Mr. Rowe had adopted the strategy of "trying to tell all his capital offenses for immunity now, so that later he can't be charged with the crime."

'Deception Responses'

Investigators apparently have neither found nor searched intensively for a shooting death to match Mr. Rowe's description. Because of the temper of those times in Birmingham and possible lapses in record-keeping on racial matters, a source close to the investigation said, the incident might be hard to substantiate if it did occur.

There is no record of Mr. Rowe's having been asked about the alleged shooting during the polygraph tests in which he was questioned about racial bombings in Birmingham in 1963.

The Alabama authorities began to regard Mr. Rowe as a suspect rather than a potential witness when a polygraph examiner concluded that he showed "strong and consistent unresolved deception responses" in denying he was in the group that placed the bomb at the 16th Street Church. A second examiner concluded that Mr. Rowe's "deception responses"

KIN OF KLAN VICTIM SEEK MORE ANSWERS

Disclosures About F.B.I. Informer Fail to Satisfy Family of Woman Slain in Alabama

By REGINALD STUART

Special to The New York Times

DETROIT, July 11 — A member of the family of Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit-area woman slain in March 1965 while engaging in civil rights activities in Alabama, said here today that, despite recent newspaper and television disclosures on the involvement of a Government-paid informer in the shooting incident, many questions still remain.

And getting answers may be no easier for the woman's husband, Anthony, and her five surviving children now than before.

Mrs. Liuzzo was slain on March 25, 1965. The 31-year-old white woman was driving a black civil rights demonstrator from Selma to Montgomery, Ala., and was killed by shots fired from a passing car in which there were four white men. All four were members of the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama, and one was also an informer for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

ABC-TV presented a segment on the Liuzzo case on a news program last night. The dead woman's son, Anthony Liuzzo Jr., 23 years old, spoke in a brief telephone interview of the program, which raised the possibility that the F.B.I. informer might have fired the fatal shot. "It's right on line," he said, adding, "We've still got about 40 questions though about the whole thing and what the role of the Government was." The program, he said, presented "about 30 percent to 40 percent of what we have found."

The program also pointed out that polygraph tests for two people who said Mr. Rowe's role in the killing was greater than he had admitted indicated they were not lying, while Mr. Rowe's polygraph test indicated he was holding something back.

$2 Million in Damages Asked

The Liuzzos filed a $2 million claim for damages against the Federal Bureau of Investigation last October but have not had any response from the agency.

An information officer for the F.B.I. said in Washington today that the agency's legal staff had indicated there would be no response until a formal suit was filed against the agency. Lawyers for the American Civil Liberties Union, which represents the Liuzzo family, said that such an action was being contemplated.

The involvement of a Government informer in the death of Mrs. Liuzzo, then a student at Wayne State University here, came to light in December 1975 during hearings by the Senate Select Committee to Study Governmental Operations With Respect to Intelligence Activities.

At those hearings, Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., one of the four persons in the car from which the fatal shots were fired, testified that he was a Ku Klux Klan member then but that he was also working as an informer for the F.B.I.

In their civil claim against the F.B.I., the Liuzzo family seeks damages on grounds that an employee of the bureau, namely Mr. Rowe, negligently and/or wrongfully failed to act to prevent the murder of Mrs. Liuzzo or may have participated in the act himself.

10-Year Sentences for Three

On the basis of Mr. Rowe's testimony in a Federal case against the other three persons in the car, the three Klan members were convicted on charges of violating Mrs. Liuzzo's civil rights. They were sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Mr. Rowe's testimony and a book he subsequently wrote discussing his F.B.I. work, "My Undercover Years With the Ku Klux Klan," were also the basis for legal action against the F.B.I. by another Michigan family, Walter and Frances Bergman of Grand Rapids. The Bergmans are seeking $1 million in damages for injuries Mr. Bergman received May 14, 1961, in Anniston, Ala., when the bus on which he and a group of "Freedom Riders" were traveling was attacked by a band of angry whites.

Liuzzo case, largely on the basis of evidence provided by Rowe. They said Rowe fired the fatal bullet.

Rowe, who also appeared on "20/20," repeated his version: that he was riding in the car with the klansmen but did not fire a gun at Liuzzo.

ABC News then arranged lie detector tests for all three men, according to the "20/20" report. Rowe's answers indicated deception, the network said, while the accusations by the two klansmen "apparently held up."

FBI Embroiled in Controversy Over Klan Informer in Alabama

By T. R. Reid

Washington Post Staff Writer

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is embroiled in a new controversy triggered by charges that a paid bureau informer was responsible for some of the bloodiest moments in the Ku Klux Klan's war against racial integration in the 1960s.

News reports this week have portrayed Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., the FBI's chief spy within the Klan from 1960-66, as an agent provocateur who personally shot civil rights demonstrators in Alabama and as a suspect in the bombing of a black church in Birmingham.

One account suggested that it was Rowe who fired the bullet that killed civil rights worker Viola Liuzzo after the freedom march on Selma, Ala., in 1965. Another said that Rowe admitted to the FBI that he had killed a black man with a gunshot in 1963—and was told by the bureau to keep quiet about it.

The FBI issued a statement yesterday saying its files contain no information to substantiate the recent charges against Rowe.

The bureau said "Rowe was constantly advised by his case agent to avoid violence and to contact the FBI when he thought violence might occur. The FBI has no information to indicate that Rowe was involved in the crimes . . ."

Rowe, who left Alabama for a new life under a new name in California, could not be found to discuss the charges yesterday. He was not always reticent about his past, however. In 1976, he published a book about his life as an FBI undercover man, and acquaintances say he has been trying to sell movie rights to it.

Rowe was 29, the unemployed father of four, when the FBI recruited him in 1960 to infiltrate the Klan in Birmingham. The bureau paid him small sums at first, but by 1965, he later testified, he was receiving about $300 a month to keep the FBI informed about Klan members and their plans.

Rowe was on or near the scene of some of the bloodiest confrontations of the civil rights movement in the South.

He was present when whites beat Freedom Riders in Birmingham in 1961. He was riding in the car from which Liuzzo was shot on a road outside Selma. An associate of his in the Klan, Robert Chambliss, was convicted last year of the 1963 bombing of Birmingham's 16th Street Baptist Church that killed four black children.

There has always been speculation about Rowe's personal involvement in these events. The questions arose anew last fall when Alabama authorities used lie-detector tests to see if he would be a reliable witness for the Chambliss prosecution.

Alabama Attorney General William Baxley, who re-opened the investigation of the church bombing in 1976, said Sunday Rowe's testimony on the case was too unreliable to use. But he said Rowe is not a suspect in the bombing.

Birmingham Police Capt. Jack LeGrande, however, said Rowe is a "prime suspect" in the case.

On Sunday, in the article that began the latest wave of charges about Rowe, The New York Times reported that Rowe's lie-detector answers were "deceptive"—suggesting, at least inferentially, that Rowe himself might have been involved in placing the bomb.

Yesterday the Times and the Birmingham Post-Herald both reported a new Rowe story: that he had admitted killing a black man in Birmingham during a black protest demonstration in 1963. The Times report said that Rowe said his superior in the FBI instructed him not to tell anyone about the killing.

The story noted that investigators have not found records to substantiate a shooting such as the one Rowe has reportedly confessed to. The FBI, in its statement yesterday, also said there is no record that such an incident occurred.

In a third Rowe story, the ABC-TV program "20/20" Monday night carried a report in which Rowe was accused of killing Liuzzo.

"20/20" carried interviews with two former Alabama klansmen who were convicted on federal charges in the

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

ATTN OF: OPR

SUBJECT: Gary Thomas Rowe, Jr.

TO: Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation

ATTN: James B. Adams
Associate Director

Attached are copies of two memoranda addressed to me from Acting Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti which direct that this Office oversee appropriate inquiries into the Bureau's handling of Mr. Rowe and into whether attorneys who participated in the prosecution of the civil rights case stemming from the murder of Ms. Viola F. Liuzzo had knowledge as to Mr. Rowe's alleged "unreliability" and/or criminal acts on his part. Also attached are copies of a letter from Senators Kennedy and Abourezk requesting that the Senate Judiciary Committee be fully informed as to the scope and methodology of the inquiries pertaining to Mr. Rowe and Acting Attorney General Civiletti's responses. Please initiate appropriate preliminary inquiries into these matters and report your findings to this Office. Mr. Civiletti has directed that these inquiries be conducted as expeditiously, but as thoroughly, as possible. Any questions regarding the scope or methodology of the inquiries may be directed to me or to Deputy Counsel Richard M. Rogers; he and/or I should be kept informed of all significant developments as they occur.

Because accounts have appeared in the media suggesting that relevant Bureau files may have been "purged" and to avoid the possibility of later questions or suggestions along this same line, we think it imperative that all FBI files which may in any way pertain to Mr. Rowe and his activities--both at Headquarters and in Field Offices--be collected, accounted for and appropriately secured. If any files or individual documents are found to be missing, because of administrative oversight or because of routine file destruction procedures or for any other reason, that fact should be forthwith reported to this Office.

ATTN OF: DAG

SUBJECT: Gary Thomas Rowe, Jr.

TO: Michael E. Shaheen, Jr., Counsel
Office of Professional Responsibility

In 1965, Mr. Rowe testified under a grant of immunity at the trial of three members of the Klu Klux Klan for killing civil rights worker Viola G. Liuzzo. Recent articles in The New York Times suggest, in effect, that Mr. Rowe was an unreliable witness. Please conduct an appropriate inquiry to determine whether the Department attorneys who tried that case were aware of Mr. Rowe's alleged unreliability or suspected that he was unreliable. Your inquiry should include all persons who may have had knowledge regarding this matter. If in conducting this inquiry you should require additional personnel, I will see that they are provided.

THE DEPUTY ATTORNEY GENERAL
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20530

July 13, 1978

Honorable James Abourezk
United States Senate Committee on the Judiciary
Washington, D. C. 20510

Dear Senator Abourezk:

Recent media reports have raised questions about the activities of former FBI informer Gary Thomas Rowe, Jr. during civil disturbances in Alabama in the early 1960's. According to the report, Rowe has alleged that he killed an unidentified person in 1963 and so informed an FBI agent, and two of the persons convicted of the murder of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo now claim that Rowe was responsible for her death.

To my present knowledge, no component of the Department of Justice possesses any information lending credibility to either allegation. But because of the legitimate public interest in these allegations, I have directed that the following steps be taken.

(1) Assistant Attorney General Philip Heymann will open an inquiry with the Attorney General of Alabama requesting, on an expedited basis, any information in his possession or at his control which might indicate an unresolved homicide during the time period in which Rowe claims to have killed someone, or which might otherwise bear on the allegations raised in the media reports.

(2) I have directed the Department's Counsel on Professional Responsibility, Michael E. Shaheen, Jr., to conduct a preliminary administrative inquiry to determine whether there is any documentary evidence or present recollection to substantiate Rowe's reported allegation that he informed an FBI agent of his having killed someone.

(3) I have directed the Department's Counsel on Professional Responsibility to review the record in United States v. Eaton, et al (the federal civil rights case stemming from the Liuzzo murder), and to conduct interviews or other investigations as he deems necessary, to determine whether there is any evidence to substantiate the reported allegation that Rowe was responsible for Mrs. Liuzzo's death.

I have advised Mr. Shaheen that whatever additional resources may be required to resolve these matters fully will be made available by me immediately.

The Department appreciates your interest.

Sincerely,

POLICE GIVEN DATA ON BOAST BY ROWE

Reports May Back F.B.I. Informer in Klan on Killing in South

By HOWELL RAINES

Special to The New York Times

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 13 — Police sources here said today that they had information that might support Gary Thomas Rowe Jr.'s contention that he killed a black man during racial unrest in Birmingham in 1963, while Mr. Rowe was on the Federal Bureau of Investigation's payroll as an informer within the Ku Klux Klan.

The sources said a former Klansman and another man described as a Klan sympathizer told the police, in separate accounts, that Mr. Rowe had boasted to them that "I shot some niggers" during rioting that followed a double bombing in a black neighborhood.

A Birmingham police officer has also told city investigators that he saw Mr. Rowe with a pistol stuck in his belt near a police barricade like the one described by Mr. Rowe in his account of the killing.

Missing Report Is Sought

The investigators are now combing police files here for a missing report that they believe contains information about at least three unsolved shootings during the 1963 disturbances.

Meanwhile, another document has come to light that may add to the growing controversy over Mr. Rowe's involvement in racial violence while he was getting monthly payments from the F.B.I. In a statement to a Senate investigator in 1975, Mr. Rowe accused John Doar, former Assistant Attorney General for civil rights, of forcing him to change his account of the killing of Viola G. Liuzzo in 1955.

Police Are Reportedly Told Informer for F.B.I. Boasted of Killing Black

In the interview, Mr. Rowe said that Federal investigators ignored his report that a black man was also killed in Mrs. Liuzzo's car when Mr. Rowe and three Birmingham Klansmen chased down the Detroit woman's automobile on the night after she took part in a civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery. Mr. Rowe further alleged that Mr. Doar ordered him to keep silent when Mr. Rowe told Government prosecutors that he could not positively identify a black man called as a key Government witness as having been in the car with Mrs. Liuzzo at the time of the shooting.

Mr. Doar, contacted at his law office in New York, refused to discuss Mr. Rowe's allegations, saying that a Justice Department inquiry into Mr. Rowe's activities was the proper forum for such questions.

Frederick A. O. Schwarz Jr., who at the time was chief counsel to the Senate committee conducting the investigation, said today that he could not recall having been told about the alleged dispute between Mr. Rowe and Mr. Doar and added that he was quite certain the committee had never investigated the allegations.

The Liuzzo case brought Mr. Rowe national attention as the F.B.I.'s chief informer against the Klan in Alabama. He was later relocated and given a new identity by the bureau, and lives in an undisclosed location.

Mr. Rowe also told Senate investigators that the Justice Department, under its witness protection program, got him a job with a United States Marshal and allowed him to attend the Department of Justice Training Academy with 90 other Federal officers. Mr. Rowe charged that, because of his dispute with Mr. Doar, he was subsequently forced to resign the job, and that Marshal who employed him filed "false affidavits" in order to get Mr. Rowe an extra month's pay on which to find a job outside the Government.

Questioned in Church Bombing

When the authorities in Alabama reopened their investigations into the unsolved racial killings in the early 1960's, they contacted Mr. Rowe for information on the 1963 bombing that killed four black children at Sixteenth Street Baptist Church. But Mr. Rowe himself became a suspect in that case after two polygraph, or lie-detector, tests showed that he was giving "deceptive" answers when he denied having been with the group that planted the bomb.

Since that time there have been disclosures that indicate that Mr. Rowe may have participated in and helped to plan the Klan violence he was hired to observe.

A former leader of the Ku Klux Klan in Birmingham said today that Mr. Rowe helped direct the attacks on the Freedom Riders at a Birmingham bus station on May 15, 1961.

Mr. Rowe himself said, in an interview with Alabama investigators last fall, that he participated in the firebombing of the home of A. G. Gaston, a black millionaire, according to investigative documents.

In the same series of interviews, Mr.

Rowe was quoted as saying he killed a black man during a riot here and was told by the F.B.I. agent to whom he regularly reported to keep quiet about the shooting. The agent named by Mr. Rowe has denied the report as "an absolute falsehood."

According to the Senate document that came to light today, Mr. Rowe said he was assured by F.B.I. agents here that his participation in violence had the personal endorsement of "The Man" — the late J. Edgar Hoover, then Director of the bureau.

'War' on the Klan

Mr. Rowe stated that "the quote to me was 'The Man has declared war on the Ku Klux Klan and that you are man enough to do, do it.'" Mr. Rowe stated that the "agent quivered, literally" in delivering this message and said "we don't have to worry about covering you any more."

The Birmingham Police Department's information about a possible shooting by Mr. Rowe was obtained, sources said, before disclosure by The New York Times that Mr. Rowe had told investigators that such a shooting took place.

The police inquiry here now is focusing on Mr. Rowe's activities after bombings on the nights of May 11 and Sept. 4, 1963. Rioting of the sort described by Mr. Rowe took place on both nights. By the accounts of Mr. Rowe and others, according to investigative documents, Mr. Rowe was in the riot area on both occasions.

Account of Shooting

The documents show that Mr. Rowe told a state investigator that he came upon blacks attacking a taxicab on Eighth Avenue here and beating a woman passenger. When the rioters turned on him, Mr. Rowe is quoted as saying, he shot a black man through the chest. Then, Mr. Rowe is reported to have said, he went to a barricade and reported the shooting to a policeman and later, by telephone, to his F.B.I. "control" agent.

According to an investigative source, a Birmingham policeman has told detectives here that during the riot on May 11, "he came down Eighth Avenue and stopped and got out of his car and Rowe was standing there in the middle of the road in civilian clothes with a gun stuck in his belt."

Later that same night, according to an investigative document, a fellow Klansman saw Mr. Rowe and talked to him at a telephone booth at 3 A.M. "At that time, Rowe stated to him that he had been up-town shooting Negroes," the document stated.

In a separate interview, the companion of the Klansman who gave that report supported the account without pressing, investigative sources here said. Mr. Rowe was quoted as telling the two men: "There's been a bombing. The niggers are rioting. I shot some niggers."

However, the assault on the taxicab described by Mr. Rowe more closely matches an incident that took place on Sept. 4, after the bombings of the A. G. Gaston Motel and the home of the Rev. A. D. King, brother of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

On that night, Mr. Rowe has told state investigators, he was riding with Birmingham policemen in the riot area when they came upon a taxicab whose driver and a woman passenger were under assault by rioters.

Investigators here are now looking into the possibility that a former policeman named by Mr. Rowe as a possible companion, and known to have been a close friend of the informer, may be able to give a firsthand account of Mr. Rowe's actions at that time.

Official police reports show that 22 blacks were shot and one killed on the night of Sept. 4. However, an investigator here said that there is "a good possibility" that as many as 50 blacks were shot and several killed in incidents that were not officially recorded by the police.

"There were bodies laying on the ground, shot dead, no witnesses," said an investigative source. "Back then, in that time, remember, they just passed over it."

Investigators here are trying now to locate a police report from that time that is recalled to have reported three such homicides.

Informer Is Subject of TV Movie

By ALJEAN HARMETZ

Special to The New York Times

LOS ANGELES, July 13 — Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., the Federal Bureau of Investigation informer who told the authorities in Alabama that he killed a black man while on the bureau's payroll, is the hero of a nearly completed two-hour movie made for television.

The movie, "The Freedom Riders," is based on Mr. Rowe's paperback book, "My Undercover Years with the Ku Klux Klan." The film was made by Columbia Television for broadcast on NBC and stars Don Meredith, the former Dallas Cowboys quarterback, as Mr. Rowe. Most of the film was photographed in May, and Columbia expects to deliver it to the network in two to three weeks.

The film centers on the killing in 1965 of Viola Liuzzo, a Freedom Rider from Detroit who went to Selma, Ala., to march with the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Mr. Rowe was in the car from Mrs. Liuzzo was shot to death.

Executives to Meet Monday

Gene Walsh, NBC's vice president for public information, said that Deanne Barkley, the network's vice president for mini-series, will meet on Monday with Larry White, president of Columbia Television, to decide what will be done about the program.

Mr. White was unavailable for comment. However, a Columbia spokesman said that the movie's fate is up to the network. "We have been paid for the movie. We no longer have any control over it," the spokesman said.

A Columbia executive who has seen a rough version of the movie said, "While Gary Rowe is not exactly a hero, he is certainly more hero than villain. He is presented as a poor guy without any education who had a chance to do what he always wanted to do — work for a law enforcement agency."

The rights to Mr. Rowe's book were acquired for Columbia by a vice president who is no longer with the company. The film originally was to have gone into production last January, but was delayed four months because Barry Shear, the director, underwent surgery.

"The Freedom Riders" was written by Lane Slate and Roger O. Hirson. The producer is George Lehr. The cast includes James Wainwright, Albert Salmi, Clifton James and Lance LeGault as Klan members. Ed Lauter plays the F.B.I. agent to whom Mr. Rowe reports, and Slim Pickens appears as a Southern sheriff.

ADMINISTRATIVE INQUIRY

SAC Kirkpatrick, Birmingham, called Supervisor [REDACTED] OPR, FBI, on 7/20/78 to advise that he had learned Thomas H. Henderson, Jr., Chief, Public Integrity Section, Criminal Division, DOJ, would be in Birmingham on 7/21 through 24/78 for the purpose of contacting the Birmingham Police Department. According to SAC Kirkpatrick, the alleged purpose of Henderson's visit to Birmingham was to obtain information concerning Rowe and may possibly be related to his involvement in the 16th Street Baptist Church bombing.

Supervisor [REDACTED] subsequently contacted Joseph Gross, Associate Counsel, OPR, DOJ, who advised that he was unaware of Henderson's impending visit to Birmingham and stated he would bring the matter to Mr. Shaheen's attention.

The above was brought to the attention of Michael E. Shaheen, Jr., Counsel, OPR, DOJ, during the afternoon of 7/20/78. Mr. Shaheen stated that Henderson worked for Phillip Heymann and was not surprised by his presence in Birmingham. Mr. Shaheen stated that Heymann had previously requested all FBI files be furnished to him; however, after a contact between Mr. Adams and Mr. Civiletti, the request was denied. Mr. Shaheen suggested that should Heymann or Henderson contact the Birmingham Office for assistance or information, his request should be brought to Mr. Adams' or Mr. Shaheen's attention prior to compliance with it.

It is noted SAC Birmingham previously advised he would contact FBIHQ should Heymann make contact with the Office

Yesterday, Deputy Counsel Rogers and Special Agent [Redacted] had a telephone conversation pertaining to the above captioned memorandum, which summarized what was discussed at a meeting between [Redacted] Mr. Heymann and others. [Redacted] requested that we furnish to you a memorandum discussing the effect of Mr. Heymann's memo on the scope of the Rowe inquiry.

We have carefully reviewed the Heymann memo and do not see how it in any way affects the scope of the current inquiry, which is to review for improper conduct the Bureau's handling of Rowe from the time he became an informant until the time the Bureau terminated its relationship with him and to determine whether Department attorneys who tried the Liuzzo case knew or suspected that Mr. Rowe was allegedly an unreliable witness.

Omaha file captioned "BAPBOMB" was reviewed and the name GARY THOMAS ROWE, JR., was not set forth in this file nor was any mention of him made. This file contains three serials which originated in the Birmingham Office and were sent to each continental office. The first was dated September 18, 1963, and the last was dated September 29, 1963. The only investigation conducted by Omaha was the contact of confidential informants and sources in an attempt to develop information leading to the solution of the "BAPBOMB" and related bombing cases. No positive information was developed by the Omaha Division and the Birmingham Office was so advised by Omaha airtel, dated October 15, 1963.

There are four serials in the Omaha Division "BAPBOMB" file and they are all accounted for.

PURPOSE:

To advise you of an extension in the deadline for submission of the results of file reviews concerning this inquiry.

DETAILS:

The Birmingham Division and the Criminal Investigative Division have advised that the 8/1/78 deadline for submission of the results of the reviews requested will put an unreasonable demand on available manpower and resources. This is due to the large volume of files to be reviewed and the need to complete other pressing matters. In addition, to insure accuracy in the reviews, it is not desirable to set a deadline that may be construed as unreasonable.

On 7/27/78 Richard M. Rogers, Deputy Counsel, Office of Professional Responsibility, Department of Justice, advised he had no objections to extending the deadline. On 7/27/78 S. S. Mignosa, Section Chief, Domestic Security and Terrorism Section, Criminal Investigative Division and SAC Leroy R. Kirkpatrick, Birmingham, were advised the requested information should be submitted to OPR, FBI, by August 7, 1978, without fail.

A review of the records of the Pittsburgh Office of the FBI contain an article from the Washington Observer dated April 22, 1965. The article, a Washington AP item, is entitled "Liuzzo Case Example," "FBI Uses Informers to Get Needed Data." A photograph of GARY T. ROWE accompanies the article and contains the following caption:

"Undercover Agent for the FBI? - The New York Times said Wednesday that Gary T. Rowe, one of the four men originally charged in the slaying of civil rights worker Mrs. Viola Liuzzo in Alabama, has been an undercover informant for the FBI reporting on Ku Klux Klan activities for six years. Charges against him were dropped and he was released." The article itself dealt with informants generally and ROWE's name was only mentioned in passing.
